BITTER FIGHT STILL RAGING OVER 2ND SPOT

Truman and Wallace Backers Wage Strong Bids for Vice Presidency.

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO STADIUM, July 20.—Democratic convention that opened here today in near-hysteria over the question of the name of the fourth term nominee, today, heard it accepted by President Roosevelt's vice-presidential pick, Harry S. Truman, who was elected to the office of Missouri for the second time.

Unexpected Help
Wallace got some unexpected help from Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, who was reported to have sent the President a telegram declaring Mr. Roosevelt had made a "mistake" in naming Truman as a second choice.

Ickes, who is credited with having urged Wallace to get out of the race, now was said to be backing the Ickes strongly because of his "liberal" views.

The vice president, who confessed that such a telegram had been sent, has reiterated his intention to remain in the race until the last ballot is counted.

Wallace told reporters crowding around the corn-stalk high Iowa standard:

"All I know is that there is strong evidence of a fine liberal sentiment in this convention and it is encouraging."

Speaks to Delegates
In an after-midnight speech to several hundred delegates from various states, Wallace said he had been called a "radical" because he had insisted that it was possible to raise the standard of living for all the people.

There is a tremendous ground swell of liberal sentiment—possibly a ground swell the like of which this country has not seen in many years—among the delegates to this convention," he said.

"There is a fresh wind blowing through the United States. We can be sure it will rise ever stronger until we are using all our manpower, resources and technical skill to produce a higher standard of living for all our people."

That's what I believe, and I have been called a radical for it. But I have never thought that starting for that made me a radical."

While Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was shouting challenge to Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, two men of might in Democratic councils gave the answer to the vice-presidential puzzle.

Said Mayor Frank Hague of Newark:

"I am for Dewey."

U. S. PLANES HIT NAZI TARGETS

2,000 American Planes Center on Factories, Oil Plants Around Leipzig.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 20.—Another 2,000 American planes blackened the skies of central Germany today, bombing a great array of air-plane factories and synthetic oil plants around Leipzig.

The armada consisted of more than 1,200 bombers and up to 750 fighters.

Enemy broadcasts declared other American bombers from Italy were striking the roofless ruins of the third largest city, this time in Tyrol and Bavaria.

On both Tuesday and Wednesday, fleets struck Germany from Britain and Italy, 2,000 from the west yesterday and 1,000 from the south.

RAF heavy bombers streamed across the channel in daylight against the robot bomb platform of northern France after bombing caves housing the missiles at Paris, at dusk.

Waves of Marauder medium bombers were reported over the battles in Normandy.

The Normandy-bound planes passed over incoming convoys of flying bombs which continued to crash on southern England during the night and morning.

Bad weather restricted night operations over France but two German planes were shot down. British Mosquito bombers, in their eleventh straight night incursion into Germany, bombed the north sea port of Bremen.

Twenty-seven locomotives and approximately 200 railroad cars were damaged in farflung attacks. Railroad targets were hit at Carhaix on the Breton peninsula, the first time the hammering against transport has been carried that far west.

Judge Young Undergoes Abdominal Operation
Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young of 203 Kensington place underwent an abdominal operation this morning in Mt. Carmel hospital at Columbus. His condition is reported to be "very satisfactory" by hospital attendants.

Taken to Columbus two weeks ago for observation, he has been able to be up and about his room a part of the time.

Democratic Keynote Speech Sets Pattern for Campaign
By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 20.—Inspired by the Democratic keynote speech of Gov. Dewey, the fourth term nominee, today, heard it accepted by President Roosevelt's vice-presidential pick, Harry S. Truman, who was elected to the office of Missouri for the second time.

(Turn to KEYNOTE, Page 19)

Pictured here are the two men regarded today as the leading contenders for the Democratic vice presidential nomination. Both photos were taken in Chicago, with Mr. Wallace shown as he waved greetings after his arrival by train in the convention city and as he started out in a cab for his hotel headquarters. Mr. Truman was photographed at his headquarters. According to reports, Wallace and Truman are Pres. Roosevelt's first and second choices, respectively, for the vice presidential nomination.

Nomination Of President Due This Afternoon

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO STADIUM, July 20.—Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan said today, in a speed-up of plans, that President Roosevelt would be nominated for a fourth term at this afternoon's national convention session.

The President will accept by radio tonight—probably late. The exact time has not been announced.

Previously it had been planned to go through the certain business of nominating Mr. Roosevelt tonight.

Whether the change would permit the convention to reach vice presidential nominations tonight remained conjectural. Hannegan said he hoped so, but felt it more likely the convention would get the vice presidency Friday.

Chairman Says We Shouldn't Change in War

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO STADIUM, July 20.—Sen. Samuel D. Jackson of Indiana, declaring warime is not time to change administrations, told the Democratic convention today the ballot box must not become "Hitler's secret weapon."

The commander-in-chief, he said, must not be taken from the fighting forces overseas.

Taking over as permanent chairman, Jackson told the convention he was confident of an election victory next November, because "the American electorate will not vote for change, interruption and delay" in winning the war.

"America will win this war, unaided and completely, no matter who is elected President of the United States next November," he said.

"But how many battleships would a Democratic defeat be worth to Tojo?"

How many Nazi legions would it be worth to Adolf Hitler?"

"Frankly, could Goebbels himself do better to bolster axis morale than the word that American people have upset this administration—the administration that made it possible for the Russians to drive the Nazis back to the Prussian border?"

Jackson developed the theme also that the Republicans thwarted moves for a lasting peace after World War I, sought to hamstring defense preparations before the current conflict, and in three terms under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover "led us into the depths of depression."

He hit hard at 42-year-old Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's references to "old, tired and quarrelsome men" in the Roosevelt administration, uttered when Dewey accepted the Republican presidential nomination.

President Roosevelt, Jackson declared, "has more rugged vitality in him today than any two men the opposition has to offer."

Tojo, Jap Cabinet Quit As War Reverses Mount

Stunning Government Upheaval Is Announced by Tokyo To Pave Way for More Powerful Regime.

By The Associated Press
Japan, smarting under repeated American victories in the Pacific which have brought the war to her very doorstep, was shaken today by a stunning government upheaval as Tokyo announced the resignation of Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo and his entire cabinet.

Fall of the government of the boastful little militarist was disclosed in an official announcement which said Emperor Hirohito had called in the elder statesman Marquis Kido to consult on forming a "more powerful cabinet" to cope with the critical war situation now confronting Japan.

Some hours after this announcement, a terse Tokyo bulletin said Lt. Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, governor-general of Korea, and Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, a former premier, had been ordered "to form the succeeding cabinet." A broadcast dispatch of Japanese areas added that important news—probably the formation of the new government—was expected "late tonight."

Designation of Koiso and Yonai to select a government apparently was an outgrowth of conferences which Tokyo earlier said Kido had held with many senior Japanese statesmen.

The resignation of Tojo, who sent the Japanese against Pearl Harbor less than two months after he assumed the post of Premier in October, 1941, was announced in a series of broadcast dispatches by Domei, official Japanese agency.

Stripped of Power
Tojo, generally considered his nation's supreme war lord and in the American eye the personification of Japanese imperialism, apparently now is stripped entirely of power.

Tojo announced Tuesday that he had been relieved as chief of the army general staff—a development that followed by one day a shakeup in the Japanese naval command. These changes came simultaneously with Tokyo's announcement to the Japanese people of the loss of Saipan, important island base approximately 1,300 miles southeast of the Japanese homeland.

His resignation as premier carried with it resignation from his concurrent post of minister of war.

Joined by His Ministers
A Domei dispatch recorded by The Associated Press said the 39-year-old Tojo gathered together the resignations of all his ministers and presented them, along with his own, to the emperor at the imperial palace at 11:40 a. m. July 18 (Japanese time).

Kido, 55, formerly was minister of home defense. A graduate of Kyoto Imperial university, he has filled various government offices in the past 30 years, among them posts in the agriculture and commerce department, the fisheries bureau, education minister, 1937-38, and welfare minister 1939-39.

None of the Japanese broadcasts said anything about Tojo's future. Presumably if he is not named to form another cabinet, another minister will be chosen.

Kido never has been linked with the militarists, has concerned himself solely with domestic issues, and never has been associated with foreign affairs.

A Tokyo broadcast this morning telling the Japanese people of the government changes indicated Kido's main purpose was to find a competent leader for the next government.

Call War "More Critical"
The Japanese homeland was told that because of "the counter-offensive of the United States" the war "situation has become more and more critical" and that therefore Tojo realized that it is appropriate to change the feeling of the people and march straight forward with the fullest speed for the destruction of the enemies, the United States and Britain.

Domei first announced Tojo's resignation last night in a "hold for release" dispatch broadcast to Japanese occupied areas. This announcement said the Tojo cabinet apologized for the "government's meager power to the men on the front."

BRITISH PUSH BIG TANK DRIVE BELOW CAEN

Nine More Towns Taken in 24 Hours; Rommel Being Bled of Men and Armor.

By The Associated Press
ON THE CAEN FRONT, July 20.—British troops today in a lightning thrust, outflanking the German defenses along the Caen-Pars road toward Vimont and into Bourguebus.

Under a burning sun the whole battlefield southeast of Caen was aflame this morning as Lt. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's Second Army moved forward into the outskirts of Toison, down the Caen-Pars road toward Vimont and into Bourguebus.

The assault on Toison, which was strongly defended by the Germans, had won the railway station of the town by midday.

A great tank battle raged around the edges of Toison. At least nine more towns and villages fell in the last 24 hours to hard-fighting British and Canadian troops as they broadened and deepened their corridor east of the Orne river.

Marshall Erwin Rommel is committing armor on an increasing scale with up to 30 German tanks impeding the British advance in the thickly wooded country between Gagny and Toison. Around Vimont, there is a blinding screen of German anti-tank guns.

The British drive has taken 1,500 prisoners, it was announced. A high British officer said the campaign was going forward in "measured advances."

All reports indicated Rommel was being bled white.

Rommel Crowded By His Former Prisoner
By The Associated Press
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 20.—Strong British armored formations under the command of a man who once was Marshal Erwin Rommel's prisoner have captured 12 towns and now are approaching Vimont, eight miles southeast of Caen on the road to Paris, supreme headquarters, announced today.

Just short of Vimont the armored drive led by Lt. Gen. Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor—who was captured in the African desert in 1941 but escaped from an Italian prison camp—pulled into battered German positions after turning out a four-mile-wide corridor.

DEMOCRATS WRITE SHORTEST PLATFORM

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 20.—The shortest platform the Democratic party ever had" was written by the drafting committee early today and set for a test in the afternoon before the convention on the seventh night.

The document was reported to embody a "permanent plank" assumed to have President Roosevelt's approval, called for American participation in an Association of Nations, with the use of arm, if necessary to control warlike nations.

Torn between demands for racial anti-discrimination legislation, poll tax repeal and a federal law against lynching on the one hand, and southern insistence on maintenance of "white supremacy" on the other, the party planksters toiled for into the morning to complete the drafting of party principles and philosophies.

Asked about the racial plank, Senator Pepper of Florida said "any document in which more than one person collaborates is not now satisfactory to everyone," but he said "we have a good platform."

GERMANS REPORT FUEHRER SUFFERS BURNS; AIDS HURT

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 20.—Berlin announced that Adolf Hitler was burned and bruised in an unsuccessful bombing attempt on his life today.

Three of Hitler's military leaders were seriously injured while his chief military advisor Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl was less seriously hurt along with five other generals and two admirals.

(The PUC said one German broadcast said the attempt on Hitler's life was "by dynamite," another mentioned "explosives" and still a third said merely "an attempt was made on the life of the fuhrer today, Thursday.")

The broadcast announcement did not give the scene of the attack but it obviously took place while Hitler was surrounded by high members of the military staff—perhaps at Hitler's headquarters.

The announcement came 16 hours after Tokyo's announcement of the fall of Premier Hideki Tojo, and Berlin said Hitler after the attack received Benito Mussolini, third member of the ill-starred trio who led the attack.

Among the seriously injured was Lt. Gen. Sepp Dietrich, head of the German army's personnel department and chief military aide de camp to Hitler for several years.

Ten lieutenant colonels named Brandt and Hagemann, and a collaborator named Berger also were listed as seriously injured. Slightly injured were these:

Generals Jodl, Hitler's personal military aide, Karl Doenitz, aide to Hitler, Guenther Karl, chief of staff of the German air force, Balke, Heusinger and Walter Senf.

Admirals Voss and von Puttkamer.

A source in London with close European connections said the incident probably occurred at the headquarters of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

This same source said the critical question of reserves for the German armies on three fronts had provoked a split between Rommel and Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, commander of the forces in Normandy. He speculated that the incident might have resulted from a general division of the German staff, resulting in a brawl.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering at once went to Hitler upon learning of what had happened. The Berlin broadcast added: "The DNB announcement said Lt. Gen. Schmidt, Lt. Col. Brandt and Lt. Col. Hagemann and Collaborator Berger were seriously injured."

Former Adjutant Injured
Schmidt was chief military adjutant to Hitler in the days of Munich and had since remained close to the Fuhrer. He was at the Brenner Pass conference of Hitler and Benito Mussolini March 18, 1940, which preceded Italy's declaration of war upon the allies.

The text of the broadcast by DNB, official German news agency:

"A bomb attempt was made on the fuhrer's life today. During the attempt, Lt. Gen. Schmidt and Lt. Col. Brandt and Lt. Col. Hagemann and Collaborator Berger were injured seriously."

Dissemination Reported
Only yesterday, the Russian press published a statement by the captured commander of the 41st German army tank corps, Lt. Gen. Edmund Hoffmeister, saying:

German Forces Weaken Under Seven-Front Russian Onslaught
through the Bug river defense which from 1939 to 1941 formed the dividing line between Russia and German-held Poland.

In the newest of their power-packed offensives near the Latvian Republic's northeast corner, the third Baltic army crossed the Velikaya river south of Ostrov and made swift progress toward middle Latvia, the frontier only nine miles away.

Heavy Air Attack
The Soviet air force was out in a strength never before equalled, giving sure cover for masses of tanks, cavalry and infantry which swarmed upon the Germans from the western Bug river to the bogs of the north.

The scope of the 800-mile front made it difficult to set apart the most significant developments, but the offensive in the south where the main forces may bypass Lwow, said the wedge between Bialystok and Brest-Litovsk to the north made it appear the march to Warsaw has begun.

Front dispatches said Red army tanks and riflemen, after capturing Sokal, 45 miles north of Lwow, and bridging the Bug, had reached for the first time Polish territory.

GALION RUNAWAY GIRL FOUND HERE

Two weeks of freedom ended yesterday for a 16-year-old Galion girl who had been passing in Marion for a 21-year-old orphan. When she was arrested by city police and later turned over to Galion authorities on a delinquency charge. Police said the girl came to Marion about two weeks ago and told them that her age was 21 and she had been alone since her mother was killed three years ago on a "crash" near Detroit. On Tuesday she had started to work at the Santa Ordinance Plant. Even after police became suspicious of her age she gave an assumed name and insisted she was of age. Local authorities found her in a room here and then later sought employment. After Galion authorities were notified, they and the girl's mother came to Marion. When they confronted her, she denied knowing her mother and added that she had never been in Galion. The mother and authorities positively identified her and she was returned to Galion. Police said at the time when she left, she still was clinging to the assumed identity.

That's why we suggest that you drop in for a talk with us about diamonds. We'll be glad to explain the difference in diamond quality and show you why some diamonds are a better buy than others. There is no obligation.

TAFT SAYS THERE'S NO BOOK CENSORSHIP

Associated Press
COLUMBUS, July 23—Senator Charles McNary, Republican of Ohio, today announced to the press his opposition to the proposed censorship of books sent to members of the Army or Navy.

He said the prohibition applied only to the use of government money in having printed and sent to the armed forces anything of a political propaganda nature.

"There seems to be some idea that books and other material sent to the armed forces are to be censored," Taft said. "The misrepresentation in the press and by columnists has been so complete that wives and parents seem to think their mail to the soldiers will be opened and political material removed. Of course, the opposite is the fact. That law provides that nothing shall prevent the sending of any letter, communication, magazine or any literature to any soldier if it is sent by any individual, corporation, or political committee at its own expense."

Taft said the amendment expressly authorizes impartial distribution of literature to the armed forces, and added that Army and Navy were distributing a total of 2,600,000 copies of 37 books to soldiers and sailors and said the only legal requirement was that new books purchased by the Army and Navy be "of general circulation," but that secondhand books were not subject to such restriction. He said he believed the Army's interpretation of the law had been too strict.

MISS RUTH KRAMER GOING TO ALTRUSA CONFERENCE

District Governor To Meet With Other Club Executives.

Miss Ruth Kramer of 585 Vernon Heights boulevard, governor of Altrusa International's Fourth District, will attend a three-day session of Altrusa executives in Chicago, July 27, 28 and 29. Fourteen directing heads, six international committee chairmen and the program coordinator of the International Association of Altrusa clubs Inc. will confer at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago to discuss what Altrusa can do to assure economic and social well-being in the post-war period.

The 27-year-old organization, the first of its kind, whose membership comprises approximately 6,000 executive and professional women, will determine what Altrusa can do to broaden educational opportunities, to help safeguard community health, to bring about full employment after the war and to aid workers in the transition from war to peace. Experts in the fields of health, education, employment, social welfare and war services will propound their ideas and experiences in a panel discussion.

Guide for Cooking Liver

By BETSY NEWMAN
Can you cook liver so it is tender and tasty? Some housewives complain that it is always tough and stringy when they cook it. They are never cooked right. It is the same with all meats. Cook liver the right way and it is done through-out. Cook liver like all pork chops. It should be cooked very thoroughly so that it is sliced thin.

CEREAL SUNDAY: Sure-fire hit for a children's party.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Press Food Editor

It's not only delectable but good for you as well. Here's how to present this good-for-you party. It's supper. Seat the guests, four to a bridge table. Use gay paper cloths and napkins and bouquets from the garden. First give them cups of hot vegetable soup. Then bring on the cereal sundae.

Cereal Sundae

4 cups wheat flakes, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, Butterscotch fudge, on fruit sauce.

In each of four individual dessert or cereal dishes, pile a cup of wheat flakes. Top each with a scoopful of ice cream. Serve with preferred sauce. If you want to make it really drug-store fancy, add sliced fruit to the sides—and then sauce! (Shades of the banana split—remember?)

Here's another delectable cereal-fruit "party-in-one-dish." If they drink milk with this, nutritional requirements are well met.

Fruit Honey Crisp Tarts

1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 4 cups rice cereal, 2 cups crushed sweetened berries or peaches.

Cook sugar and honey together, stirring only enough to prevent burning until it forms a hard ball when dropped from the tip of a spoon into cold water. Remove from heat; add salt and vinegar. Put rice cereal into large buttered bowl. Pour in syrup, mixing well. Divide mixture into four large buttered tart pans. Press evenly against bottom and sides of pans. Cool until firm. Remove tart shells from pans. Place on individual serving plates. Fill with fruit. Serves four.

Here's an Alice-through-the-looking-glass meal which will appeal to the young and do them good too. Give them a salad first. Tomato and lettuce is frequently the most popular with the very young—and always with mayonnaise, never French dressing. Then give them this hot dessert, which rounds out the meal completely.

Cocoa-Nut Fudding

2 cups milk, 1-3 cup farina, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 2 tablespoons water, 1/2 cup chopped toasted nut meats.

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Add farina slowly, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water, stirring until thickened. Cover; cook 20 minutes. Add sugar. Dissolve cocoa in water; add. Cook five more minutes. Add nut meats. Serve hot, topped by generous tablespoonful of vanilla ice cream. Serves four.

Manpower Shortage Hurts B-29 Production

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, July 20—Superfortresses and fighter planes will not be available to play a major part in the critical stages of the war unless immediate action is taken to obtain more production workers at the Fisher aircraft plant near the Cleveland airport, said the situation is growing more serious.

The Fisher plant produces the B-29 Superfortresses, which are used in many types of operations. It is also producing B-29 bombers and ammunition.

FIGHT TO CLEAR NAME ENDS IN DEATH

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 24—Death has ended Oberlin M. Carter's 45-year fight to clear his name of a charge of defrauding the government, conviction of which halted his brilliant career as an Army engineer.

The 88-year-old Carter, native of Patriot (Gallia county), Ohio, often described by his friends as the American Dreyfus, died of pneumonia Tuesday without having succeeded in setting aside a court martial verdict in 1939 convicting him of defrauding the government in letting contracts for several rivers and harbors improvements. Dismissed from the army, Carter was fined $5,000 and sentenced to Leavenworth prison for five years.

The case was the subject of 27 rulings in federal courts and was before the United States supreme court four times. At the outbreak of war he temporarily suspended his fight for vindication "because I didn't want to do anything that would reflect on the administration."

AIR CORPS OPEN FOR ENLISTEES

Recruiting of 17-Year-Olds Is Started Here; Test Set for Next Tuesday.

With reopening of the Army Air Corps enlistment program young men in the Marion area again will have the opportunity for training in various branches of combat flying after graduation from high school in accordance with a new plan announced here recently.

The air corps is seeking young men 17 years old for enlistment. If they pass mental and physical examinations they will be inducted into the air corps. After their induction they will be given an opportunity to finish high school. None will be called before their eighteenth birthdays.

Although the air corps enlistment program has been closed since spring, enlistments are being sought for the months of September and October when increases had been planned. The need is primarily for aerial gunners, according to First Lt. Lloyd Stoll of Fort Hayes, Columbus, representative of the air force examining board for central Ohio, who was in Marion yesterday. He explained that a few young men will be taken into such lines as pilots, bombardiers or radio men.

125 Enlisted Here
Lt. Stoll said that 125 young men from Marion and Marion county were enlisted in the Air Corps before enlistment was closed earlier this year, and that it is hoped many more will be obtained from this area.

A mental test will be administered through the cooperation of local members of the Civil Air Patrol, who have charge of the Air Force examination booklets. The test will be given Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Army Recruiting office in the postoffice building. Young men who are studying mathematics and physics in high school and have an interest in aviation should be able to cover the test, which runs for three hours and includes 150 questions.

Final Procedure
After applicants have passed mental examination they are called to Columbus for a physical examination, usually within a week. If they meet physical requirements they are sworn into the Air Force and be on call when they reach their eighteenth birthday and finish high school. Training through which they will go will last from six to 13 months, depending on the field in which they are placed.

Happy Family Welcomes 17th To Cochran Home Near Marion

Admiration Showed on Black-Haired, Blue-Eyed Linda Lou; Stars Promise Her Much for Years To Come.

By EDNA S. DUTTON

If the stars read right, black-haired, blue-eyed, nine-pound Linda Lou—the seventeen child born to Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Cochran of the Prospect place—will be endowed with unique genius and be logical and dependable. Family will mean much to her and personal and spiritual blessings may also crown her life.

The newest addition to the family, born yesterday, was officially named last night when Mr. Cochran gave "Linda Lou" his okeh upon his return from work.

The family welcomed a bit better than the name chosen and Sandra Sue.

Linda Lou's arrival yesterday morning at 8:25 o'clock put the household a bit off schedule, but no one seemed to mind if they were a bit late to the field, and the dishes were not washed on time—there was something more important, a brand new baby to be admired. And admitted she was.

In the corner of Mrs. Cochran's bedroom on the first floor of the nine-room home, Linda Lou, in her gray flowered nightgown and wrapped in her pink and blue blanket, slept peacefully yesterday afternoon, turning a deaf ear to compliments that would make a debutante turn green with envy and wasn't the least bit fussed when she came to having her picture taken.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I DO not know," I said, my father and ample guards should follow me. "I have never seen you, but I did not dream of Harry's comment when you came, but I am glad he has seen you. I have never seen you, but I did not dream of Harry's comment when you came, but I am glad he has seen you."

"He never has referred to me," I said, my father and ample guards should follow me. "I have never seen you, but I did not dream of Harry's comment when you came, but I am glad he has seen you."

"But I was not successful," I said, my father and ample guards should follow me. "I have never seen you, but I did not dream of Harry's comment when you came, but I am glad he has seen you."

"To whom did he speak of them?" he asked.

Letter of Truth

"I am not sure that he told anybody about the matter," I said, trying to keep to the letter of truth. "But he talked to Harry a long time after the Underwoods arrived, and I think he was sure he was telling Harry things he had not revealed to me."

"Indeed, Harry indicated as much to us when he came up from the secret chamber," I went on. "And he said Hugh had sent me a message to the effect that he would have explanations to make to me when he should next see me."

"I surmise that you did not care very much for that message," my father said absently.

"No, I didn't," I replied, my resentment getting the better of my discretion.

"Please understand me," I went on. "I could understand Hugh's not wishing to discuss the matter, because he was distraught or too terribly worried to talk. But I did resent his taking time to tell Harry things which he had kept from me. After all, I was instrumental in saving him and Lee Chow from something they evidently dreaded."

Father Proud

"You have saved more than you know, my child," my father said with pride as well as tenderness in his voice. It was an intonation that was like an accolade to my spirit, and I straightened my body, and flung up my head.

"Don't pay any attention to what I was saying, Father," I pleaded. "It really doesn't matter."

"But it does matter," he said, "and I shall tell Hugh to account for it when I see him next."

"Oh, Father, don't!" I pleaded in an agony of protest. "Don't you see? He will know that I have complained to you!"

He gave me an infinitely tender smile which held a hint of whimsicality.

"Do you know your father so little," he asked, "as to believe that I cannot settle with Hugh without his ever guessing that I have heard a word on the subject from you? And I shall be all the more severe with him because I can foresee that I myself will have to keep you in the dark about many details of this thing because of sheer lack of time for the discussing of it. But of one thing you may be sure. You will know everything there is to know as soon as I possible can tell you."

Rueful Smile

He smiled ruefully, leaned over and put his hand upon my arm.

"I owe you that much my dear," he said. "For the many times I have kept you in the dark. And you always have been so uncomplaining, so soldier-like in your attitude."

"You are making me very much ashamed of myself, Father," I told him, "but I do want you to know that I am positively glowing inside at your praise."

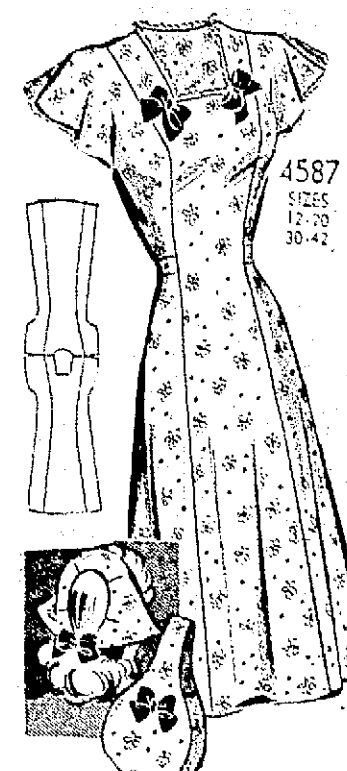

"Not a word that you do not deserve, my dear," he returned. "But now we come to the mystery of this thing. Why could not Hugh have come to me himself when he had the opportunity to get away? Why was it necessary for him to subject you to the danger of attack from those Nazi agents?"

No Real Danger

"There never was any real danger of that," I said. "Mr. X, as you call him, as soon as he made his report, I knew that I must come in by the armored car, and that

Modern Way of Life Has Done a Great Deal to Adjust Us to the American Summer

Modern way of life has done a great deal to adjust us to the American summer. Not only the electric fan and the air conditioning system, but all our clothing and our food, and the amount of work we do. And sunstroke, once an every day occurrence in any city in the summer, is now a rarity. Our fathers and mothers used to imitate the English and wear coats and stiff collars all summer. I am for shirts with short sleeves as de rigueur for men in summer. And I am strong for slacks and shorts for the girls—at dinner parties or anywhere. Let's face facts—summer is hell in the United States. Chronic diseases all flare up in the summer—tuberculosis, diabetes, heart disease. Dress light, eat light, drink light, think light. Don't try to push your poor old hot mind into the creation of a masterpiece. If summer's here can fall be far behind? Walt!
